

some one, and i know who, is not gonna like this.

the whole issue is appalling.

i don't go poking my nose into other people's business.

but if you'd ask me.

they'll have to have me there to put matters straight.

he isn't my cup of tea.

he is so intense, he has no small talk.

pathetic really.

they all think he's the cat's pyjamas.

which made me wonder.

what are you on about.

the point i'm making is.

if only he'd shown the effort.

sorry to say this.

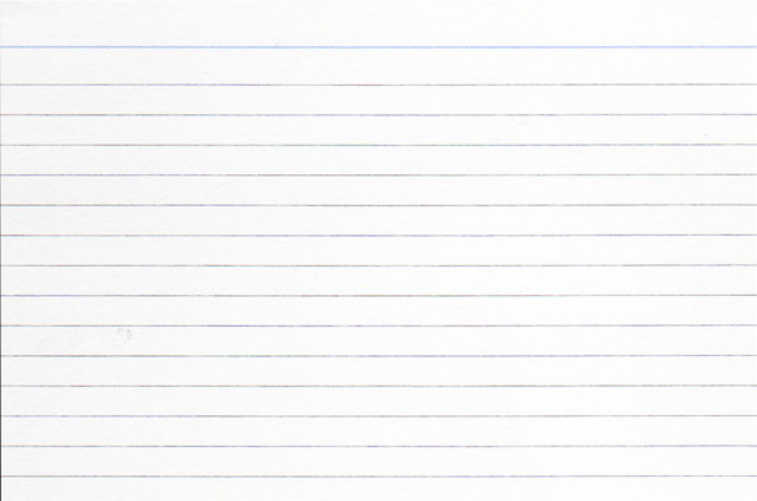

after him, anything goes.

to put it bluntly.

if i pauzed to cough, he'd jump in.

do i need to say more.

well, quite.

so then i'm like.

whatever.

well, i mean, i feel sorry for the guy.

because, by the end of the day.

never mind.

i can't be bothered anymore.

anyway, how are you doing?